

Flower & Decoration Sharing

To save costs it is a great idea to contact the couple who are getting married the day before or after you to ask if they are interested in sharing decorations such as greenery for the chandeliers, or at Christmas time, a tree!

If you would like to do this, you will need to email the contact details you do not mind us passing on to the other couples i.e. mobile number and email address, or would you prefer email address only? We will ask them to contact you direct or they can let us know if they would rather not share.

Data protection legislation prevents us from giving you their details without permission.

If the couple either side of you, or both, agree to share you can consider asking other couples over the same weekend

Sharing happens a lot and especially with the greenery on the chandeliers, but I'm afraid we must add that if you do decide to share, we cannot be responsible or liable for any agreements.

Other saving costs would be if you used the same florist!

Please notify Gate Street Barn of any arrangements when finalised so we can make a note and not take anything down that should be left in place!
